

SATURDAY SCIENCE: SHIPWRECKS—SATURDAY, MARCH 3 @ 1PM—3PM

Kevin Magee from CLUE will begin the afternoon with a presentation about Lake Erie shipwrecks. This will be followed by hands on science activities around the topics of waves and weather. The program is co-presented by Case Western Reserve University—Center for Science and Mathematics & Cuyahoga County Public Library and supported with funding from the Martha Holden Jennings Foundation.

The Exploration Station will be open during this program.

Pre-registration is greatly appreciated for planning.

Crayon Recycling... Do you have worn out crayons from the first half of the school year? Don't throw them away!! Did you know that crayons are made from petroleum products and should not end up in the landfill? Do your part! Bring them to the park office or nature center for recycling. Receive a cool recycled crayon in exchange for your old ones.
